

IMPORTANT BILL LOST IN SHUFFLE

While Both Houses of Carolina
Legislature Passed Solicitors'
Bill, It Was Never Ratified.

SUES FOR IMMENSE SUM

Widow of Man Who Was Killed by Seaboard Seeks to Recover $60,000.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., March 12.—Plans are being submitted for the new telephone exchange building that will be erected here by the Capital City Telephone Company, the controlling stock of which is owned by the Southern Bell Company. The company's wires and cables are being put under ground now in a large section of the city. The contract will be let in a few days for the exchange.

A verdict of not guilty has been rendered in the case of H. J. Hivins, Seaboard Air Line detective, on trial for the murder of an unknown white man while attempting to arrest him for stealing a ride on a freight train near Raleigh. The case was moved from Wake to Johnston county because of sentiment against the detective in Wake. The trial was in progress four days. Hivins had been in jail without bail since the killing, over six months ago. Self-defense was the plea. The man killed was evidently a railroad machinist of powerful build, and the contention was that he had turned on the detective to strike him.

Civil Service Examination.

There are already forty applicants for examination to be held here under civil service Saturday, March 16th, for rural free delivery carriers. This is by far the largest number that ever stood the examination at one time in this city.

As a result of a series of delays, the faculty and the medical department of the Shaw University, colored, here the entire sophomore class of the department has been expelled. The trouble seems to have grown out of an order, issued some days ago, for the expulsion of a member of the class for thirty days for a violation of rules. The class rebelled against the order and difficulties multiplied until the whole class was suspended. The faculty, however, refused to reinstate the student. The situation, both Chief Clerk A. J. Maxwell, of the Senate, and Chief Clerk Frank D. Haddill, of the House, say they will have the manuscript for the daily journal of the two branches of the Assembly, just adjourned, ready for the printer and will be in better form than ever within two days. There were about 300 more acts passed by this Assembly than by any other Legislature held in North Carolina.

Important Bill Lost.

During the session 1,525 acts and thirty-seven resolutions were ratified. This is 250 more than were passed at the previous session two years ago. It has been discovered since the adjournment of the Legislature yesterday that the bill which created such heated arguments early in the session, and passed both branches, for putting soldiers of superior grade in salaried positions, instead of fees, has in the end gotten lost in the shuffle, and has never been ratified. This will be gratifying news to the soldiers of the State, as the bill was so drawn as not to increase the pay of any of them, but would cut down quite a number considerably.

The old three-story buildings on the site for the temple of the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Masons, in this city, have been sold to the colored Masonic lodge, and they will tear them away at once. Then the work of erecting the splendid $25,000 fireproof temple will begin not later than May 1st, to be pushed to completion without delay.

Provision was made by the General Assembly just adjourned for the erection of a $50,000 central heating plant for the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College here.

Sues for Large Sum.

A suit for $50,000 damages has been instituted in the Superior Court here by Mrs. S. E. Maxwell, for the killing of her husband, the Seaboard Air Line Railroad last December near Beachland. Maxwell was thirty-five years old, and in the railroad accident in which he was killed he was pinned under his engine for five hours, injured and sealed. The case will come up at the spring term of the Superior Court. The suit is just instituted, and the complaint will be filed later.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

One Negro Kills Another at Construction Camp.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., March 12.—It developed today that the wife of a homicide at the double tracking construction camp of the Southern Railroad, near Jamestown, Saturday night, in a fight between a crowd of half-drunk negro workmen, Warren Blackwell was shot and instantly killed by Sam Harris, who escaped. It was only last night that the coroner was notified of the killing. He went there today, but deemed and inquest unnecessary.

This is the fourth homicide at the camps in the past six months, one man, Frank Robinson (colored), having been named here last month for murdering a white foreman of the construction work.

For Better Schools.

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 12.—The election here today for a $20,000 bond issue for additional school facilities resulted in an almost unanimous favorable vote, only eleven being cast in opposition.

Tonic for Mothers

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Safe and Reliable—A Favorite Household Remedy.

Motherhood may be the crowning blessing of a woman's life or it may bring grief and sorrow. Mrs. A. J. Wright of 130 Seventh Street, Auburn, Maine, relates her experience after the birth of her daughter in 1901, as follows: "I was all run down at the time the baby came and did not improve in health rapidly after. I was pale, thin and bloodless. My stomach distressed me being full of gas all the time and my heart fluttered, so that I could scarcely breathe."

"Finally I remembered that a friend had recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me so I commenced using them. I gained in strength rapidly while the baby thrived also. When I expected my next child I started taking the pills again as a tonic and strengthener and had no such difficulty as before. I got up better and my strength came back much sooner."

"A year and a half later I had an attack of rheumatism in the hands which went from one hand to the other. The joints swelled up and were so stiff I could not move them. The pain extended up through my arms and shoulders. I felt sick enough to go to bed but did not do so. This attack lasted for several months. I tried several remedies, but finally came back to using the pills which had done me so much good before and found that they benefited me almost at once. I have not been troubled since."

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail postpaid on receipt of price—30 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50—by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Send for book of cures.

ENGLISH GIRLS LEAVE FOR HOME

Those Brought in Under Alien Contract Law Return, Singing as They Start.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., March 12.—United States Marshal Miliken left this morning for Raleigh, Va., to take charge of the English girls who were imported into America last fall by Southern cotton-mill men to work in the mills around Charlotte, and were detained as government witnesses in the recent unsuccessful prosecutions in the Federal Court here of mill men for alleged violation of the alien contract labor laws. The girls left on a special train for Raleigh, Va., and will be turned over to the Immigration Department at Baltimore for deportation, the government paying the passage and back to their native city of Bolton, near Manchester, England.

The girls have been practically prisoners awaiting the holding of court for nearly three months, and had the tiny sum of nearly $100, which each as witness fees on leaving, only ten dollars, however, for prudential reasons being paid them in cash before leaving Greensboro. They have been boarded and clothed at the cost of the government since coming here. The girls were chosen for deportation, going back to England. After several days' hesitation, seventy decided to return to their native land, and when they left this morning, they are all fine singers—before taking leave of their friends in a group and sang with camp meeting fervor, "God Be With You, 'Till We Meet Again." As the train sped on, every girl was at a window and was kissing her hand good-bye to the numbers of new-made friends gathered to see them off.

HURRIED TO RALEIGH.

Negro Taken There to Prevent South Carolinians Getting Him.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., March 12.—A lady named Miss "Climax," of Raleigh, who was arrested last night at Millersville, a small station on a branch of the Coast Line, between Lenoir and Clio, S. C., was escorted here by a negro named Nathan McClary, who was brought here today by officers from South Carolina, to be held in jail for safekeeping. Acting by instructions from Governor Glenn, Sheriff Watson and South Carolina officers, they came to Fayetteville through the country, as the best safeguard against mob violence. This last action was more necessary, as it is generally believed here that a crowd is coming to Fayetteville from South Carolina and the neighborhood of Rowlesville, to kidnap the negro in jail here, to lynch him.

FATAL STROKE.

Mr. M. T. Haynes Stricken Down in Street With Paralysis.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SALISBURY, N. C., March 12.—M. T. Haynes, aged sixty-two years, and a native of Salisbury, died at his home of a stroke of apoplexy, which came on today at the home of a son-in-law, N. W. Collett, in this city, following a stroke of paralysis, which came yesterday morning from his home in the street. He never regained consciousness. He was a highly esteemed citizen and leaves one son and one daughter.

WAS THERE COLLUSION?

Federal Court, Sitting in Greensboro, Tries Interesting Case.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., March 12.—There was no special adjournment in Federal Court today in the trial of W. Hasty, the ex-revenue officer under indictment for alleged fraud against the government in collusion with illicit distillers in Wilkes county. The principal witnesses for the government, besides officers having been called, are records sent in by Hasty during his reported raids on "blackheads," who swore that stills reported as having been destroyed were not. This afternoon Dr. Turner, who owned stock in telephone lines from Wilkes to two mountain sections of blackheads, testified that Hasty told him he was the one who cut the line one morning. A big raid was made under authority of the government, to prevent news of

WAS GLOOMY DAY FOR REUNION FUND

Yesterday was rather a gloomy day for the Confederate Reunion fund, as the total receipts aggregated only $69.42. The few who did contribute were generous enough in the size of their gifts, but the trouble lay in the small number of givers. Here is the summary of the day's work:

"Wagon"	$ 6.92
Engine Co. No. 2, Main Street	5.00
W. T. Atkinson	2.50
"Cash"	5.00
Metzger's Sons	5.00
"Cash"	5.00
S. Ullman's Sons	10.00
E. D. Starke, Dixie Piew Works	10.00
Physician	10.00
Dr. Daniel J. Coleman	10.00
Previously acknowledged	15,226.25
Total to date	$15,295.67

Mr. Edgar D. Taylor, chairman of the executive committee, has received from the manufacturers a sample of the medals which will be used during the reunion. These medals are beautiful in design, and will give a faithful representation of the Davis Monument. Ten thousand of them will be given free to visiting veterans. A second medal, somewhat similar in design, will be sold as a souvenir of the occasion for fifty cents. It cost the reunion committee an immense sum of money to have these medals made, as they are models of artistic work.

The coming of the officers reaching the blockades. He further testified that there were two telephone lines where the one was cut, and the one cut led to the section where officers were. Calling Hasty's attention to the fact, he replied he was a stranger and might have made a mistake. The government contends that the line was cut to avert suspicion that revenue men and distillers were in collusion, and that those actually in collusion, but who were not personally notified of officers' approach. The case is being hard fought and will consume the entire week.

TEACHERS MEET.

Interesting Program Prepared for Gathering at Boydton.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SOUTH HILL, VA., March 12.—The second semi-annual meeting of the Mecklenburg County Teachers' Association will be held at Boydton, March 13th. The day will be divided into two sessions, the first beginning at 11 A. M. and the second at 2:30 P. M. It is requested that every teacher in the county be present at this meeting, whether a member or not. A most helpful and interesting program has been arranged.

State School Inspector J. S. Thomas, of Lynchburg, will be present, and will have something to say of interest to all teachers of Mecklenburg, and it is earnestly desired that all teachers will avail themselves of this opportunity for improvement. A special rate will be given by the hotels to all persons attending the convention.

This is the first year that the teachers of Mecklenburg have been organizing, but the work has been highly gratifying, and it seems certain that the association will be stronger next year than it has been for the year past. COAL CLAIMANTS ARE INDICTED

Federal Grand Jury Investigated Certain Coal Frauds of Wyoming Lands.

TOBACCO TRUST UNDER FIRE

Must Answer Charges Affecting Interstate Commerce and Monopoly of Trade.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Several indictments were reported today by the Federal grand jury, which has been investigating important alleged violations of the Federal statutes.

It was rumored that among the indictments were a number dealing with the recent taking of title to valuable coal lands in the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming by certain persons residing in the suburbs of New York. These persons assigned their rights in the lands to the Owl Creek Mining Company and the Northwestern Coal Company, both said to be subsidiary corporations of the Burlington Railroad, which is now building a branch line into the Big Horn Basin in order that it may get the coal haul of that section.

The applicants made oath when making entry to the lands that they were not acquiring title for any individual or corporation, but solely for themselves, as required by law. The grand jury's investigation of the entries is at the instance of the Interior Department.

It is also known that the grand jury has in the past month spent considerable time in an investigation of certain transactions of the American Tobacco Company affecting interstate commerce and the maintenance and creation of monopolies in connection with the tobacco industry, especially of the export trade. It is not known whether this investigation has been completed.

LIBRARY MATTER ABSORBING TOPIC

sell two volumes of this valuable work to Mr. Kennedy. The sale was made at $15. Though Mr. Nichols positively declined to discuss the matter last night, it is known he has been and he thought he was selling the papers to the library, where his aunt, to whom they belonged, would have access to them to copy them if she should desire to do so.

He is also of opinion that he received for the money in the name of the library. An article appeared in an afternoon paper here stating that the manuscripts were among Mr. Kennedy's "private" collection of books and papers, and that he had refused $150 for them. It is a fact that Professor John Hart, needing for Mr. Kennedy, sold the manuscripts to Mr. Joseph S. S. for $75.

Mr. Nichols approached Mr. Kennedy several times on the subject with a view to obtaining a larger price for the books, claiming that his understanding was that they should remain in the library for the benefit of the public.

Could Never Agree.

The two were never able to come to an agreement, Mr. Kennedy contending that the books were his; that he paid for them out of his own pocket, and certainly would not have accepted a receipt for his own money in the name of the library. Meanwhile the receipt cannot be found. It has probably been lost or destroyed.

The climax came yesterday, when Mr. Nichols went to Mr. Kennedy and made a flat demand for all the amount Mr. Kennedy received for the books over and above the $15 paid him and the cost of the last sale. This demand was refused, and there the matter stands. Whether Mr. Nichols will make any further move is not known, as he stoutly declined to make any reference whatever to the matter for publication when seen last night.

Mr. Kennedy's Side.

Mr. Kennedy sets out his side of the controversy at length in the following carefully prepared statement:

"Mr. Nichols brought the Latrobe manuscript to the library early in 1904, and stated that he wished to sell it for a lady in Petersburg, whom he said was badly in need of money. Not wishing to make him an offer, I suggested that he leave the book with me, promising him at the same time that I would submit the question of purchase to the executive committee of the library. This I did, stating at the same time that I had suggested fifteen dollars as a price for which it could probably be secured. The committee decided that the library did not care to make the purchase, and permission was given me to buy it for my private library if I cared to do so. Some days after this meeting Mr. Nichols again called at my office, and was apprised of the decision of the library, and was told by me that I was sorry that I had not been able to purchase the book for the library. He then stated that he was willing to sell it to me for twenty-five dollars. Refusing this offer, I heard nothing more from Mr. Nichols until the recent investigation began, when I noticed in the Senate chamber. The chairman of this committee questioned me concerning the purchase, but discontinued his inquiry when a member of the library board stated that I had offered the book to the library and that I had purchased it with the consent of the executive committee. Shortly after the investigation ended Mr. Nichols called at my office and wanted me to give him a part of the profit which I had made after keeping the book about a year. I stated at that time that I could not consider such a proposition, but would be glad to have his reasons for making such a request at some future time. A few days ago he called with a gentleman, unknown to me, and demanded an answer stating that he wished to know whether I intended sharing the profit with him.

Refused to Consider.

I refused to consider his demand, stating that if he wished to talk further in regard to the matter that I would see him later in the week, as I was busy engaged in preparing for the board meeting to be held on Monday. To-day he called me by phone and stated that he must have an answer at once, whereupon I told him to come to my office, and he should have it. Arriving about 2 o'clock, he had hardly taken a seat when he declared that a compromise was no longer in purpose, and demanded that I give him all over $15, the price paid him for the book in question. My reply was short and to the point. I stated that he was entitled to nothing and would get nothing. This ended the conversation, which hardly lasted two minutes.

It is very evident that Mr. Nichols' actions in the matter have been peculiar from the beginning. He evidently believed that he could force an additional payment over and above the price accepted by him, and that he felt that the time was propitious for such action.

"When he gave me the receipt, made out in my name, I considered the purchase made, and that he had no further claim upon me. As for his belief that he sold it to the library, it is erroneous. It is a fact, however, that after three years of contention, resulting from the sale, he now seeks to compel me to pay him an additional sum of money by stating that he was acting under the advice of a friend, which word he emphasized. In this he will fail, as I am well aware of his methods and will act accordingly. His whole demeanor in this matter is mysterious, to say the least, and will certainly not be countenanced by me."

Craving for Drink
Destroyed

The best aid to temperance is something that will strengthen the weakened nervous system and cure his unnatural craving for drink. We believe that any man who really desires to be cured of the liquor habit can cure himself by using Orin. This remarkable discovery has made so many cures among our customers that we are glad to sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

It is in two forms: No. 1, that can be given secretly, and No. 2, for those who wish to be cured. It is not only the most reliable treatment known, but it is also the most economical, as it costs only
